
Economic terminology of the Uzbek language: sources and methods of development

Gulshan Asilova, Yekaterina Shirinova, Gulbahor Iskandarova

Issue	E3S Web Conf. Volume 413, 2023 XVI International Scientific and Practical Conference “State and Prospects for the Development of Agribusiness - INTERAGROMASH 2023”
Article Number	03009
Number of page(s)	10
Section	Social and Human Ecology
DOI	https://doi.org/10.1051/e3sconf/202341303009
Published online	11 August 2023

Abstract

By the authors of the paper analyzing several properties of the economic terminology of the Uzbek language. In particular, data are given on the research of terms in various fields in Uzbek and world linguistics, interpretations of special terms in the works of linguists, and also considers the systemic characteristics, sources and ways of developing the economic terminology of the Uzbek language. Also paid attention to the process of development of the economic terminology of the Uzbek language based on the internal language potential, namely the methods of affixation, composition, abbreviation, semantic and others. Substantiated the role of borrowing in the development of the language in general and in the enrichment of economic terminology in particular. Considered the views of linguists from different countries on this issue. The opinions of the authors are substantiated by examples, which analyzed during the study.